DR. EMIL HARTUNG BEATEN UNCONSCIOUS AND ROBBED IN PLOT BY FAKE PATIENT

Former County Physician of Brooklyn May Have Fractured Skull.

$3,000 GEMS STOLEN.

Attacked After Being Lured to House Near Home "to Treat Invalid."

Lured to a house a block away from his office by a call from a man supposedly seriously ill, Dr. Emil F. Hartung, for sixteen years County Physician of Kings County and one of the best known practitioners in the borough, was attacked, knocked senseless and robbed of jewelry worth $3,000 and several hundred dollars in cash to-day. Dr. Hartung is at his home, No. 333 Marion Street, under the care of three physicians. It is feared his skull is fractured, but his mind is clear.

Three days ago a stocky young man giving the name of Harris called at Dr. Hartung's office for treatment. He called again yesterday and complained of various aches and pains. At 10 o'clock to-day Dr. Hartung was asked by telephone to call on Harris in a house in Marion Street.

The doctor walked to the house, a two-story frame two-family dwelling between Howard and Saratoga Avenues. He was met at the door by a young man he had never seen before and was escorted to a bedroom on the ground floor, where he found Harris in bed.

Stepping to the bed the doctor placed his bag on a chair. As he stooped to examine the patient he heard a noise behind him which prompted him to straighten up and turn. The second man had put on a mask and was covering him with a revolver.

Dr. Hartung leaped for the man with the gun and they grappled. The man known as Harris jumped out of bed—for the first time the doctor noted he was fully clothed—and got into action with an iron bar which he had taken to bed with him. He struck Dr. Hartung on the head and the doctor dropped unconscious.

When he recovered he found his feet tied and the door locked. After some time he managed to reach the front door and attract the attention of a passerby, who called an automobile and took him home.

The wound on Dr. Hartung's head required eight stitches. He was covered with bandages and his clothing was almost entirely torn off in the fight in the room. The thieves obtained a five-carat diamond ring valued at more than $2,000, a horse-shoe diamond scarfpin worth $500, two gold watches and chains—one an heirloom left him by his mother—and all the doctor's money.

Police investigation establishes that the two robbers rented the room to which Dr. Hartung was enticed a week ago. Harris posed as an invalid. Persons who saw the thieves leave the house after the robbery say they walked rapidly to Ralph Avenue and disappeared around the corner.

The explosion was heard for miles. Windows in nearby dwellings and manufacturing plants were wrecked. Street cars were blocked. Every ambulance in the city, including a portion of the Fire Department, responded.

$18,000 PAYROLL STOLEN BY BANDITS IN HOLD-UP OF TYPEWRITER CO. CASHIER

Three Men Attack Frank Zieris in 69th Street on Way From Bank and Escape With Cash—Police Pursue in Commandeered Auto.

Frank Zieris, cashier of the Hammond Typewriter Company, and a bookkeeper who was aiding him in carrying a satchel to the factory at No. 537 East 69th Street from the branch of the Guaranty Trust Company at Madison Avenue and 60th Street, was held up by three masked men at half past one o'clock to-day and robbed of the weekly payroll.

According to Herman A. Peterson, the Treasurer of the company, the robbers got $18,000. They attacked Mr. Zieris and the bookkeeper on 69th Street between First Avenue and Avenue A, a block and a half from the factory.

Capt. John Duane and Detectives Prantner, Grossman and McGuire were at the East 67th Street Station when the robbery was reported and commandeered an automobile in the effort to trace the robbers.

According to the story told to the officers of the company by Zieris, the men jumped from a taxicab upon him and the bookkeeper, whose name was Hovey, and pushed them against the wall of a building at the muzzle of their revolvers. Zieris attempted to draw his own revolver but was disarmed after a tussle.

Hovey took the satchel from Zieris and started on the run for the factory but stopped when one of the bandits fired three shots after him. The robbers then took the bag from him, leaped into their taxicab and drove away toward First Avenue.

HINTS MISTAKEN IDENTITY IN PRIEST'S $4,000 SUIT AGAINST LORD AUCKLAND

Lawyer Denies Father O'Keefe Loaned the Money to Irish Baron.

Intimations that the suit of the Rev. Father O'Keefe, rector of St. Matthew's Church, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, for $4,000 he alleges he loaned Lord Frederick George Eden Auckland, sixth Irish baron of the name, might bring out a case of mistaken identity on the part of the priest were made to-day by a friend of the baron. At the office of the peer's attorney, Howard Dickinson, No. 33 Pine Street, all information was refused.

"No money whatsoever has passed from Father O'Keefe to Lord Auckland," said the informant. "An important witness who knows just who got the money is in Australia and his testimony will be taken by deposition."

It is intimated that the money was given by Father O'Keefe to a certain young man under the impression he was Lord Auckland.

Lord Auckland and his mother were guests of the priest, according to the complaint, when they came to this country after the death of his father. Lord Auckland married Miss Susan L. Harridge of Jacksonville, Fla., in 1917, and returned to England. Father O'Keefe states the loan of $4,000 was made at that time with the promise that it would be returned when the nobleman was in better circumstances. Lord Auckland with his wife and two children recently returned to this country. In the course of a social call Father O'Keefe says he casually mentioned the matter of the $4,000 and was astonished to learn that his lordship regarded the money as a "free will gift."

Indignant, Father O'Keefe retained Leon Daghes, lawyer, of No. 21 Park Place, and started suit, with several letters and photographs to be used as supporting evidence. Howard Dickinson of No. 33 Pine Street, attorney for Lord Auckland, said to-day: "A serious mistake has been made. When the case comes up for trial in October we will be prepared to show that this money was not loaned to Lord Auckland and no obligation exists on him."

SUFFRAGISTS IN TENNESSEE STILL HOLD THE WHIP HAND; NO VOTE IN HOUSE TO-DAY

Antis Lose Their Last Chance to Bring Up Motion to Reconsider.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 20.—Suffrage leaders forced adjournment of the Tennessee House to-day before Speaker Walker made any motion to reconsider the ratification of the Federal Suffrage amendment. Opponents thus lost their right to offer a motion to reconsider, but the Suffrage forces planned to make such a motion to-morrow and then to table it, thus making impossible any further parliamentary tactics to reconsider the House's original action.

After the amendment was ratified on Wednesday Speaker Walker changed his vote from nay to yea, in order that he might be in a position to offer a motion for reconsideration, but the time in which he could make his motion expired to-day.

The Anti-Suffragists sought to have the House adjourn until Monday, but the Suffragists voted their motion down, the movement being defeated by the same vote that the ratification resolution was adopted Wednesday—49 to 47.

The galleries and the promenade at the rear of the chamber, as on Wednesday, were crowded with suffrage advocates and their opponents. Enthusiasm of the spectators could not be held in check and as various legislative leaders arrived, cheers mingled with applause. Appearance of Representative Harry T. Burn of McMinn County, whose vote Wednesday for ratification was regarded as having carried the day for suffrage, prompted a demonstration.

As the House adjourned hundreds of suffragists joined in singing "My Country, 'Tis of Thee," fairly shouting the words "sweet land of liberty." The air was repeated over and over. They regarded the moment it was beyond question.

Judge Joseph Higgins of Nashville, President of the Tennessee Constitutional League, stated to-day he had prepared to sue out a writ of injunction against Gov. Roberia and the Secretary of State restraining them from certifying the resolution to Washington the moment it was evident the Suffragists had won the contest. Legal action will be taken, he said, on the ground that this Legislature was prohibited by the State Constitution from acting on the amendment.

RAILROADS MUST HAVE POLES THAT BOYS CAN'T CLIMB

BOYS simply cannot help climbing poles, hence all owners of poles must make them boy-proof or be legally responsible for any injuries to the boys sustained in climbing, a jury in the United States District Court decided to-day.

The jurors awarded a verdict of $10,365 damages to David Frucher, and $1,988 additional to his father for medical expenses, finding against the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

David, who lives in Concord Avenue, Bronx, is seven years old. While climbing the railroad's 149th Street viaduct he touched a high voltage wire, suffering injuries which necessitated the amputation of his left arm. His counsel argued that, as a boy's propensity to climb is well known, it was the duty of the railroad to safeguard the property.

M'GRAW DEPARTS FOR CHICAGO TO JOIN THE GIANTS

Can Be Summoned on Short Notice if Wanted by Prosecutor—Slavin Better.

John J. McGraw, manager of the Giants, left for Chicago to-day to take command of his practically leaderless baseball team, despite the protests of his advisers and the injuries to his head. While these injuries prevented him from going to the District Attorney's office to explain how he received them or what he knew of the injuries which have kept John C. Slavin, comedian, in St. Luke's Hospital for almost two weeks, McGraw insisted on going to Chicago.

"Johnny Evers, who was acting manager of the Giants, was suspended indefinitely for a run-in with an umpire, Dave Bancroft, shortstop, has been injured seriously, and Larry Doyle has had to take command," said McGraw. "The team needs me, as this is a crucial moment in the pennant race."

Before McGraw left, his counsel, William J. Fallon, notified P. Francis Marro, Assistant District Attorney, that if he is wanted, McGraw can be summoned back within twenty-four to forty-eight hours. Fallon said when the truth comes out McGraw will be exonerated.

Dr. Arthur Hollis at St. Luke's Hospital to-day issued a bulletin that Slavin's condition was slightly improved, that he had spent a restful night, was more rational to-day and was taking more nourishment.

A. O. Brown, head of the house committee of the Lambs Club, when informed to-day that Prohibition Enforcement agents were contemplating another investigation to determine if liquor had been on the premises of the clubhouse, said the Lambs courted any investigation the authorities wished to make. Every aid will be given the Prohibition agents, he said, and added that the Lambs have had no liquor on the premises, having called all off at the time that Prohibition became effective. Concerning the reports that the injuries were sustained in fights at the club, Mr. Brown said that the committee stood by its original statement.

POLISH VICTORY GROWING; 600 FRENCH OFFICERS AID; SOVIET ARMY IN DIRE PERIL

British and French Missions Return to Warsaw — Heavy Artillery Fire Increases Panic of Fleeing Russians—Thousands Taken.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Brest-Litovsk has been occupied by the Polish Army, according to advices received to-day by the State Department from the American Commissioner at Berlin. His despatch was based on a report received by him from Posen.

PARIS, Aug. 20 (Associated Press).—The military successes of the Poles continued yesterday, according to a report to the Foreign Office to-day from the military mission in Warsaw, under plans elaborated by the French General Weygand and his staff of more than 600 French officers.

All these officers now are either actively in command of the forces that are freeing Warsaw from the Russian Soviet menace or are aiding the Polish commanders.

It is considered that French and Polish co-operation in the commands of the various forces now has reached a satisfactory stage. J. J. Jusserand and Lord D'Abernon, respectively the heads of the French and British Missions to Poland, have returned to Warsaw from Posen for a conference with Gen. Weygand and the Polish staff.

The success of the Poles in throwing back the Bolsheviks in the battle of Warsaw was "a Polish victory," the French General Weygand told delegations at Warsaw who had come to tell him that he was the most popular man in Poland and was proclaimed by all as the "Savior of Warsaw."

Advices received here from the Polish capital quote Gen. Weygand, in his response to the delegations, as follows: "Preparatory military operations were executed by the Polish generals according to the Polish plan. My role, as well as that of the other French officers, was limited to filling certain gaps in the details of execution. It is the Polish nation that has been its own savior. If the Polish leaders know how to profit by victory I am convinced that the Bolshevik Army will soon cease to exist."

The French Government has received advices that Polish troops have occupied Bielsa, west of Brest-Litovsk. Gen. Budenny's Soviet cavalry, however, is progressing in the direction of Lemberg, the sector from which the Poles have been obliged to withdraw troops to reinforce the northern front.

The situation at Danzig is still causing worry, but it is expected to be cleared up when two French battalions now on the way there, arrive and offer Sir Roginald T. Tower, the Allied High Commissioner at Danzig, sufficient forces to control the docks and permit the unloading of Polish munitions.

WARSAW, Aug. 20 (Associated Press).—The extreme right wing of the Polish Army is marching on Brest-Litovsk, on the Bug River 150 miles east of Warsaw, according to an official statement on the fighting issued shortly before last midnight. The right wing has captured Siedles and Bielsk, the statement says.

The Polish left wing has taken Pul-tusk, about thirty-five miles north of Warsaw, and is continuing its progress in the direction of Mlava. In the center, the Polish forces are marching in the direction of Ostr-
